

Non-permitted Products and Images

Kala maintains a safe environment for consumers, and prohibits certain products and images in order to maintain that environment. In addition, sellers must always comply with all laws, regulations, and Kala's policies, terms and conditions. Failure to comply with these requirements may lead to suspension or termination of the seller's account on Kala, forfeit of payments, and possible legal action. Kala reviews the products you are offering, and may require additional information from you prior to offering products in order to ensure compliance with these policies. Kala, at its discretion, reserves the right to temporarily or permanently remove products that you offer without notice in the event it finds products actively listed that may violate these policies.

All products offered on Kala must conform to categories which are supported by Kala (such as Home and Garden, Pets, etc.).

Kala prohibits any products that are in violation of federal, state or local laws or regulations. Further, Kala prohibits the use of images or offering of products that may be viewed as being offensive, immoral, unsafe or profane. A sample list of prohibited products and images is provided below, which is not guaranteed to be a complete list.

Prohibited and restricted products

- Alcoholic beverages, tobacco and related items
- Products that violate any local, state, or federal regulations or laws
- Products that fail to meet the labeling requirements of any applicable regulations or laws
- Any product or material that promotes hatred, violence, racial, sexual or religious intolerance
- Children's products that don't comply with CPSIA (Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act), which regulates children's product safety rules, the testing requirements of children's products, and labeling that certifies the testing of children's products.
- Dietary supplements that have received a safety recall or other consumer alert, that are past their expiration date, or that contain ingredients that are considered a "controlled substance"
- Drugs that require a prescription from a medical professional
- Explosives, weapons, or ammunition
- Slot machines that accept coins or other form of money, or lottery tickets
- Hazardous materials
- Human parts
- Live animals
- Pornography or any offensive or controversial products or materials
- Stolen or counterfeit goods
- Products requiring a license for which you have not received a license or appropriate authorization
- Used equipment/products
- Any products that are not clearly and accurately described in the seller's description
- Any products that violate the privacy or rights of others

- Any products that are unsafe or have been recalled
- Any products sold to consumers in California that do not comply with the following:

California Product Limitations

1. California Air Regulatory Board (CARB)

California regulations prohibit the sale of certain products that have the potential to impact air quality. The California Air Resources Board (CARB) requirements define what may be sold or shipped to consumers in California. To be eligible, products must have a valid Executive Order (EO) number from CARB.

Products That Cannot Be Sold or Shipped to California

Aftermarket auto parts, catalytic converters, indoor air cleaners, small gas-powered engines, and portable gas containers that are not, or are no longer registered with CARB having an active EO number

2. California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection (CAL FIRE)

California regulations prohibit the sale of certain products related to fire safety that are not approved for sale by the California State Fire Marshal.

Products That Cannot Be Sold or Shipped to California

- Fire alarms, smoke alarms, smoke detectors and carbon monoxide detectors that have not been approved for sale in California by the California State Fire Marshal
- Fire extinguishers that do not meet labeling and certification requirements set forth by the California State Fire Marshal

3. California Energy Commission (CEC)

California regulations prohibit the sale of certain products that fail to meet minimum efficiency requirements determined by the California Energy Commission (CEC).

Products That Cannot Be Sold or Shipped to California

Light bulbs, lamps, water fixtures, fittings, and other appliances covered by CEC regulations that fail to meet California efficiency standards

4. California Proposition 65 (Prop 65)

California prohibits the sale of certain products that contain cancer or reproductive toxicity chemicals. You can learn more about Proposition 65 by visiting <https://oehha.ca.gov/proposition-65>. Products you sell must be compliant with California's Proposition 65 (Prop 65), which requires sellers to issue special warnings for relevant products.

5. California e-Waste Act

California enacted the Electronic Waste Recycling Act of 2003 (SB 20, Sher, Chapter 526, Statutes of 2003) and associated regulations to establish a funding system for the collection and recycling of certain electronic wastes.